1. [REDACTED] ADD/A, told me that [REDACTED] had received a telephone call from [REDACTED] analyst in O/RR, regarding an Agency Notice signed by [REDACTED]. There was considerable confusion of this out-of-channels approach to [REDACTED] and I was asked to get to the bottom of it. I obtained the facts from [REDACTED] and on learning these, ADD/A referred the matter to AD/RR where it was satisfactorily resolved.

2. Attended O/CI briefing which was presented by [REDACTED] from O/SI, who has recently returned from an extended trip [REDACTED] during which he visited the major wire communications centers and research and development activities. I was particularly impressed with [REDACTED] presentation and was interested in the application of this type of travel to other interests in the Agency. [REDACTED] was outstandingly successful on his trip, however, I am inclined to believe that this success was due 70% to the dynamic personality of [REDACTED] himself, 20% to the [REDACTED] and the balance--10% to the ready availability of the type of material [REDACTED] was [REDACTED]. My impression was that this type of travel is desirable, that [REDACTED] should be sought wherever possible, and that great care should be taken by the Offices in selecting the traveler in the hope that they will be able to get as good a representative as [REDACTED] proved to be.

3. [REDACTED] Liaison Division of [REDACTED] called to say that the State Department periodic report of outstanding magazine articles relating to intelligence interest will now be reproduced in multiple copies by O/CD and so far orders for 82 copies of each issue have been received in the Agency.. I suggested to [REDACTED] that he contact [REDACTED] who, I was sure, would be very much interested for his diary scrap book.

[REDACTED] Security Staff, O/CI, called to say that [REDACTED] had been SI cleared and would have to be debriefed in connection with her resignation. I told him that it would be most inadvisable for us to try to reach her in New York for this debriefing at this time, but that as she would be in touch with this Office later, either [REDACTED] or I would undertake to have her sign the necessary oath. I requested [REDACTED] to send me a brief memorandum outlining the steps to be taken, with the necessary copies of the papers to be signed. We will then keep this in our follow-up for necessary action when we are next in touch with [REDACTED] (Note: [REDACTED] latest information to this Office is that she plans to leave New York for a trip south on or about 1 February for about a month. At D/Personnel's request, Form 34-30 (Final Payment Clearance Sheet) and SF-52 for [REDACTED] resignation, are being sent to her for her signature and return to [REDACTED].
